

Gasworks Residency Programme Overview

The programme offers a Bolivian artist the opportunity to research and develop new works while in London and to take part in events and participatory workshops that engage audiences directly with the artist and their work. At the same time, the programme provides the artist with the opportunity to present their first major exhibition in the UK.

During their London residency, the artist will use their time and benefit from the available resources that the city offers; from public libraries to art institutions, as well as the Gasworks community to meet and exchange ideas with peers, other art professionals, and the general public.

Duration: 3 months

Objectives:

- Professional development: The visiting artist will have the opportunity to experiment with their ideas and develop new works. Gasworks' extensive knowledge and international reputation provide the artist with contacts and networks to make their work visible to the professional community.
- Public program: Visiting artists are encouraged to participate in events, talks, seminars, workshops, and presentations; aimed at further disseminating and contextualizing their portfolio and developing a dialogue with the public.
- Open Studio Exhibition: The residency ends with an Open Studio where the artist exhibits their work produced while in residency, opening the door to further exhibit in the UK and receive feedback from professionals and curators.
